To Whom it May Concern,,

Plus Technologies LLC, an Indiana company with principal offices at 1860 Lyons Road, Dayton Ohio is the sole developer of OM Plus software. Plus Technologies owns all the intellectual properties associated with OM Plus and is the only organization authorized to develop OM Plus related source code. Plus Technologies is the only organization with access to the source code and therefore the only organization capable of providing engineering level technical support.

Plus Technologies does authorize third parties to resell the software on our behalf. However, the Software License Agreement (SLA) is always executed between Plus Technologies and the customers directly. For these reasons it is our position that Plus Technologies may be considered the sole source of the OM Plus output management software suite.

Sincerely,
